VALORA SPOTLIGHT: NEW ENGLAND

Valora Spotlights New England Market for Analytics and Early Case Assessment

New England – May 11, 2009 – Valora Technologies, located in Burlington, MA, is reaching out to its community and speaking in Boston and around the northeast on a number of different topics relevant to the legal industry.

Valora Technologies' President and CEO, Sandra Serkes, was invited to speak at two prominent law firms in the North East area this May. Ms. Serkes discussed Population Analysis and Early Case Assessment; topics in high demand for the legal community, from law firms to corporate counsel to the US Department of Justice.

Ms. Serkes is not only published on these topics, her company created its own proprietary software to perform this type of analysis and has been utilizing this technology for years. Most recently, an article authored by Sandra discussing Early Case Assessment was published in the Chicago Association for Litigation Support Managers newsletter.

Additionally, Ms. Serkes will be speaking about Early Case Assessment and Population Analysis at the upcoming Association of Litigation Support Professionals Boston Chapter event on May 14th at noon, located at the Suffolk University Faculty Dining Room at 120 Tremont Street in Boston, MA 02109. Registration to this event is free and open to both ALSP members and the public.

As a woman-owned company, Valora is also supporting the local Boston chapter of Women in E-Discovery this month by hosting their May 12th event, located at Foley Hoag in room 13M (13th Floor) of 155 Seaport Boulevard in Boston, MA 02110 at 12:30pm. Valora will also be represented at the Women in E-Discovery vendor fair occurring June 9th from 1:30-4:30pm. On July 14th, Sandra Serkes will be presenting to the WiE audience on the topic of Automated Document Review. Interested parties may contact Valora for further information on any of these events.
